Shibori Collection Sara Goodman

Khawachen/Inner Asia is excited to announce the introduction of our new Shibori Collection. Designed by North American textile artist Sara Goodman, these carpets are based on traditional shibori patterns from Japan. Better known as tie-dye in the West, shibori is a sophisticated form of shaped resist dyeing, practiced in various ways throughout the world, but refined to its greatest extent by artisans in Japan. Translated into the language of luxury piles carpets, these designs are remarkably contemporary, still retaining an echo of the past.

The characteristic element of shibori designs on cloth is the blurred edge of the pattern, where the dye has seeped in under the binding or stitching to a varied extent. This blurry aspect creates an organic quality to the pattern, and is what makes shibori textiles universally appealing. In transforming these designs into carpets, we have been able to retain this essential quality of movement and spontaneity.
